Sugar Sugar Sugar

It's high, yes it's very high—28c is quite a price, but we must keep sweet at any cost. Our policy is this. At the high price we positively cannot afford to tie up money enough to fill our warehouse as a protection against canning season demands. Every person must protect their own canning supply. We have been buying all the sugar we could buy from everyone who had it to sell. At present we have a few hundred pounds to sell in as large quantities as you wish it. If taken off our hands quickly we will keep trying to get more, but money is limited and although we would like to do so we cannot lay in an amount to guarantee you all you want in canning season. Predictions are that it will be very scarce. We urge everyone to get a supply ahead as quickly as possible.

Whether some Harbor Beach merchants believe in newspaper advertising or not, it is true that there are eight advertisements in this issue which were received from out-of-town advertisers, and were absolutely unsolicited. The Times received too late for insertion this week a one-half page ad from out of town. There are nine non-advertising merchants in this city who should study and profit by advertising in their home paper.—Harbor Beach Times.

Faye Wight is a most fortunate young lady, and what is the nicest thing about it is she is not a bit puffed up over her many blessings. As a 1920 graduate she received many nice gifts, the most prominent being a ring with two handsome diamonds set in platinum, and also a fine Auburn automobile. And with all this Faye is looking ahead to Ann Arbor next fall. Besides all this Miss Faye is the possessor of a sweet voice, which is being trained under the supervision of Dr. Harris, of Port Huron. It was this voice which, rendering the opening and closing solos of the Gypsy Camp Class Day exercises, gave the touch of charm to the whole program. We trust we are pardoned for unconsciously omitting Faye's name in our write-up last week. A

Rhea Knisley in some manner poisoned her hands. The doctor does not know whether it comes from poison ivy or what. Rhea's friends hope that the poison does not result seriously.

Slight showers during the past week helped the growing crops and there is a bright outlook for a bountiful harvest. The heavy downpour of rain Tuesday night will no doubt help out the hay crop, which at present is rather short.

D. H. Andrews, M. D., and family, of St. Louis, Mich., have moved to Yale and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McLaughlin until a suitable house can be secured to move into. The Dr. has fitted up the rooms in the building first door south of the Paisley Hotel. He will practice medicine and surgery in this city and surrounding country.

The next thing to climb up and look down upon the people is the express rate. Just what is going to happen within the coming three months is difficult to determine, but business in the larger circles are hedging more than they care to admit. Banks are looking to their creditors more closely, and loans are restricted. The indicator is bobbing like a cork in the water. Whether it is to be a storm or a calm the wisest do not know, and many would give millions to know.
